

DELIVERY GUIDELINES FOR GIRL GUIDE COOKIES

Thank you for being a cookie receiver for Girl Guide cookies!

Pre-delivery Preparation:

- Have your cookie adviser's contact information on hand in case of any problems. They are your contact for guidance if needed.
- Be sure you will be available at the delivery point at the scheduled date and time.
- Ensure your storage space is clean, dry, and protected. Storage location should be free of chemicals, paint, or any solvent producing an odour that could be absorbed by the cookies. Keep away from potential infestations (insects, rodents, etc.).
- Keep cases dry and away from moisture of any kind. Beware of bare cement floors that may transfer moisture to the carrying cartons and cause weakness. Deliveries will not be made to locations having dirt floors.
- Keep away from heat. Do not store in vehicles or outdoors. Mint cookies should be stored at a temperature between 10°C and 22°C; sandwich cookies at below 28°C.

Delivery Day:

- Delivery vehicles larger than a cube van must park at the curb to avoid damage to the homeowner's property.
- Workplace Safety and Insurance Board regulations need to be followed. DO NOT ask delivery people to remove their safety footwear to enter your home. Delivery people have the right to refuse to deliver if unsafe conditions exist.
- DO NOT assist the delivery person with unloading. They are trained and know how to do this safely.
- Cases will be unloaded off pallets by hand by the delivery people wherever feasible and depending on delivery/storage location, i.e. basement of a home. Cases are not to be stacked more than eight cases high at the storage location.
- It is the responsibility of the receiver to dispose of the pallets. If you would like the delivery company to take the pallets back at the time of delivery, this requirement must be entered at time of cookie ordering in order to be indicated on the Proof of Delivery (POD) slip.
- Inspect the shipment THOROUGHLY. Count the cases and look for damaged product. Driver MUST allow you sufficient time for proper inspection. When signing the POD be sure to sign BOTH copies of the POD – yours and the driver's.
 - If there is no damage and the correct number of cases was delivered, make note of this on the PODs and sign them.
 - If any damage is visible, actual count doesn't match the order, or you were not given sufficient time to thoroughly check the product, make note of this on both copies of the POD and then sign them. Afterwards complete a Delivery Incident Reporting Form providing additional details as necessary and forward it to your cookie adviser with a COPY of the POD.
 - DO NOT accept damaged cases. Ask the delivery people if there are extra cases available on the truck to replace the damages/shortage before signing the PODs.
 - You and delivery people MUST agree on the count and condition of cases before signing the PODs.
 - The signed POD is the transfer of responsibility from Dare Foods to Girl Guides. If the driver is using an electronic device to obtain signature for delivery, ask for a print out of the PODs or sign the packing slip attached with the delivery.

Pallet Configuration for Classic

After delivery:

- Do not discard your copy of the POD after your delivery. Keep the POD in a safe place until after the invoicing process is complete.
- Complete the delivery reporting and request form (on reverse side) if:
 - You had damages or shortages in your shipment and no extra cases were available for replacements (indicate on POD)
 - You experience a problem with the driver i.e. not given time to count the order
 - You receive an early or late delivery
 - There are other delivery concerns/issues you feel needs to be reported
 - You were not allowed sufficient time for proper inspection (indicate on POD)
