1. Canada Flashes and Title Tapes

As early as 1936 the National Council made available a “Canada Badge” to be worn at the base of the cockade by Guiders travelling internationally on approved trips. The “badge” was to be returned after the traveller returned home, unless she had travelled as a representative of the National Council (e.g. a delegate or a trainer) in which case she could continue to wear it in Canada.

At the same time a woven title tape was available for Guides and Rangers travelling abroad. It was to be worn on the left sleeve, just below the shoulder seam.

In 1948 a significant change was made. The Canada Badge was now called the Canada Flash, and it no longer was worn on the Guider hat. Instead it was worn by Guiders on both sleeves, just below the shoulder seam. Guides and Rangers continued to wear the Canada title tape, and as before, this international insignia was to be removed upon return to Canada.

By 1959 ALL girls travelling abroad could wear the Canada title tape on their left sleeve, while Guiders continued to wear the Canada flash on both sleeves.

Sometime between 1963 and 1965 the title tapes for girls were discontinued and they wore the same flash as the Guiders, although still just on one sleeve.

Starting in 1992 travellers were permitted to wear the Canada Flash for one year after their return to Canada.

Canada Flashes were obtained at first by application to the National International Department, and later through the provincial offices.

Starting in 2009, they could be purchased through the Merchandising Centre catalogue.

Because there is no ready record of when the styles of these title tapes and flashes changes, we can only give approximate dates for the different versions.

Provincial Title Tapes

In 1965, provision was made for the wearing of provincial title tapes. These could be worn by girls and Guiders travelling within Canada to an event in another province. They were to be worn on the RIGHT sleeve, just below the shoulder seam.
