  - Type the questions using font 72 to make it large.

How to play the game.

- Place the game pages around the room in order (the bigger the playing area the better the game.)
- The first pair stand NEXT to the Start page, one girl in the pair begins by rolling the die, both girls count the squares and move to the right spot
- The girl that rolled the die then answers the question on the page where they landed.
- Now she lets her partner roll the die and they repeat around the game, until they finish.
- Once both girls in the pair have answered the question, let the next pair begin.
- So on and so on.

I have found that this game really reinforces their knowledge of the Promise and the Law. We had a lot of fun. If you have warm weather this game can be played outdoors, you could make them run from space to space.
